Subject: USFW New Petitions for Listing

I know of a few species that have been petitioned for USFW listing that might have habitat or range in Pima County, but I am sure there is probably more. The MSCP states that USFW is keeping you apprised of any new filings for species that are being considered for listing by the USFW. Is the assumption that the extensive habitat mapping of the SDCP CLS is likely sufficient to cover any of the known pending species that might receive listing? Is there any benefit to including more information regarding this, or is too much unknown on these pending petitions relative to the work that has been done in the County to date?
